

Cite Evidence (pg. 47, Collections)

When you need to support your opinion or answers, you need to provide specific information from the text. Citing evidence can include: details, facts, statistics, quotations, and examples.

If you want to...	Then...
Support an idea, opinion, conclusion, or inference,	cite selected words and details from anywhere in the text.
Analyze how a text is organized	cite sentences that include signal words that indicated a pattern of organization, such as first , and after for chronological order.
Summarize the main idea and details in a text,	cite details from specific sections of the text.

Cite Evidence (pg. 47, Collections)

When you need to support your opinion or answers, you need to provide specific information from the text. Citing evidence can include: details, facts, statistics, quotations, and examples.

If you want to...	Then...
Support an idea, opinion, conclusion, or inference,	cite selected words and details from anywhere in the text.
Analyze how a text is organized	cite sentences that include signal words that indicated a pattern of organization, such as first , and after for chronological order.
Summarize the main idea and details in a text,	cite details from specific sections of the text.